

MARKET REPORT – WEEK 37

BASED ON SALES AND PURCHASES OF VESSELS WEEK ENDED FRIDAY 11TH SEPTEMBER 2020.

Covid-19 remains the largest geo-political topic in the world today because (a) the numbers of people affected around the world are again rapidly increasing, (b) governments still have no blue print of how best to fight it, (c) there is still no approved vaccine and probably won't be for several more months and (d) the only proven way to stop the spread is by national lockdowns which governments are understandably reluctant to do because that also wrecks domestic productivity and economies further. Governments find themselves in a lives vs economy catch 22.

Mainly due to Covid-19 the International Energy Agency forecasts an 8% reduction in world oil demand for 2020 and with Brent Crude back down to $40 per barrel and West Texas Intermediate futures falling to $37+ per barrel, the oil traders have their storage hats back on again... We understand that ashore storage is already full and it seems that many tanker vessels, that were only recently emptied of oil or products which were stored in April / May, will now again be chartered for 6 months or longer for storage purposes.

All Baltic dry freight indexes fell further last week: the BCI by -6.2%, BPI -10.9%, BSI -3.8% and BHSI -1.6%. Overall the BDI closed down by -7% w-o-w. The Baltic Wet indexes also continued down a little: Dirty by -1.5% and Clean by -2.10%.

The S+P markets remain lackluster albeit a number of vessels been committed and prices achieved by anything these days (bulkers, tankers or containers) are often difficult to comprehend but seemingly arrived at due to how keen and therefore flexible on price and terms a seller might be. Typically when Japanese owners push the 'for sale' button they get on and sell at whatever is the best offered on the day whereas others too often hold out for that unjustifiable (on this market) 'little bit more' only to see the buyer drop him and move onto an alternative vessel.

Sub continent recycling prices so far remaining firm with Bangladesh seemingly now more keen to secure tonnage and so likely to increase levels on offer in order retake top place back from Pakistan breakers who may now be getting close to capacity. India remains the go to area for HKC Green recycling but their country is now being ravaged by Covid-19 with up to 100,000 new cases EACH DAY meaning local or national lockdowns could be imminent.
