

MARKET REPORT – WEEK 27

BASED ON SALES AND PURCHASES OF VESSELS WEEK ENDED FRIDAY 5TH JULY 2024.

We have just passed the midpoint of the year and while all shipping markets are still holding together (wet currently better than dry), the political or dictatorial machinations currently being played out in the capitals of several of the world's most economically and militarily powerful countries (US, Russia, China, UK, France, Iran, Israel) seem to be doing their level best to unsettle longstanding economic and peace abiding status quos, which means no one is currently sleeping soundly at night...

The BDI posted a small -4.1% loss at cob on Friday closing just back under the 2.000 point barrier on 1.966. This was due to all the Baltic dry indexes closing down a little: BCI - 3.0%, BPI - 7.3%, BSI -3.6%, and BHSI -2.7% w-o-w. Nevertheless, we are reporting a very healthy list of second hand bulker sales last week and no significant bulker newbuilding orders, while on the wet side only 3 second hand tankers were reported to have agreed sale terms last week, while the ever growing list of newbuilding tankers and gas vessels ordered grew by another circa 40 units!!

The subcontinent ship recycling markets remain fairly quiet due to not only the lack of vessels being offered for scrap, but currently even more so due to China's dumping of even cheaper steel around the world because its own domestic drop off in real estate and construction activity. It is now also Monsoon season in the area which always further slows production.

THE ABOVE INFORMATION IS GIVEN IN GOOD FAITH BUT WITHOUT GUARANTEE AS TO ACCURACY OF SAYING.
